THRIFT

If thrift does not come natural to you, cultivate it. Realize the fact that every man who has a dollar put aside is a capitalist.

We earnestly urge you to open an account with this bank for any sum. Either a Checking or a Savings account, in addition to being convenient encourages you not to use your money except in a wise way.

The prosperity you enjoy today does not guarantee you prosperity tomorrow. Changes in the business and industrial world may later on deprive you of your present measure of prosperity.

We Pay Interest On Deposits.

Came to Her Rescue

From her home in Mountain Park, Oklahoma, Mrs. O. A. Strange writes to the Pinus laboratories:

"I am taking Fruitola and Traxo for gall-stones with good results. If it had not been that it came to my rescue, I would have been dead I am sure. I cannot say too much for Fruitola and Traxo.

Fruitola possesses properties that act directly upon the intestinal parts. It is a great system cleanser, softening the congested waste and disintegrating the hardened particles that cause so much suffering, and quickly expels the accumulation to the intense relief of the patient. Traxo is a tonic alternative that acts on the liver and kidneys, stimulates the flow of gastric juices to aid digestion and removes bile from the general circulation. It serves to build up and strengthen the weakened, run-down system.

From the concurrence of the pills, arrangements have been made to supply Fruitola and Traxo through leading druggists. In Anderson they can be obtained at Evans' Pharmacy, three stores.

Arabic. Sixteen have been accounted for here.

Captain Finch gave The Associated Press a detailed account:

We were forty seven miles south of Galley head at 9:30 this morning when I perceived the steamer Dunsley in difficulty, going toward her I saw a torpedo coming. I could not see the submarine. The torpedo struck a hundred feet from the stern and the vessel settled immediately and sank in about eight minutes.

My order for getting the boats launched was promptly obeyed, the two capsized. We had taken every precaution in the danger zone. There were plenty of life belts on deck and the boats were ready for launching. The officers and crew behaved excellently and did everything possible under the circumstances.

I was last to leave as the ship was going down and some time later got on to a raft and aided two men and a woman.

Finch paid a tribute to the heroism of several engineers and firemen who remained at their posts and sacrificed their lives to execute orders from the bridge thus insuring the passengers' safety. Among those lost was the Captain's nephew.

Only Two Americans Lost.

London, Aug. 20.—It is now definitely established the White Star announced this afternoon that only two Americans on the Arabic are unaccounted for.

Washington, Aug. 20.—Officials' details of the Arabic sinking are awaited. The president will not decide whether the act was unfriendly to the United States until they arrive. Officials agree on keeping their minds open, although the gravity of the new situation is realized. President Wilson motored to Philadelphia.

Two official dispatches have been received. They merely transmitted White Star line reports. Ambassador Page forwarded the report that the ship was torpedoed without warning. Consul Thompson at Queenstown made a similar report.

GALVESTON SLOWLY RECOVERS FROM STORM

children of officers enlisted men came along. The infirmary was leased for the soldiers, the majority of whom are not badly hurt.

Fifty thousand loaves of bread have been started to Galveston and fifty barrels of other foodstuffs. Twenty thousand loaves are on the way from Dallas and San Antonio. Mayor Fisher, of Galveston, sent word that he hoped to have a water supply by tonight.

Wallace, a town of about a thousand inhabitants, on the east side of Galveston bay appealed for aid. Only three houses there are remaining. It is estimated that ten thousand head of stock in Chambers county were drowned and there is apprehension for the fate of seventy five residents. Smith Point, a peninsula jutting far out into the bay which seemed submerged during the storm.

Fifteen hundred telegrams from Galveston, the first out since the storm, arrived last night.

Galveston, Aug. 20.—Thirteen bodies are in the local morgue as toll of the storm. Seven were identified up to last night. Two men arriving from Beaumont reported they met an automobile party from Virginia Point and were told that twenty were buried there and there were seven other bodies.

The British steamers Havelson and Eaton Hall are aground at Swat Lake in southwest Texas.

BRITISH TEACH SOLDIERS TO COOK

London, Aug. 15.—The British War Office has taken advantage of the vacation season in the city schools to turn several of the buildings into cooking schools, where fifteen hundred soldiers are learning elementary principles of the culinary art. There are a hundred men billeted in each building, and they must provide their own food on the customary War Office allowance of 40 cents a day. If they cannot eat the meals they prepare they must go without.

"To cook rapidly and well is an art which can easily be acquired," says the War Office Manual, "and it is an art that every soldier should learn. At least eight men in every company must be taught to cut up meat and operate field kitchens."

So Considerate.

It has been their first separation and during one week the young husband had sent his dear little wife if letters, 15 picture postcards and four telegrams, says The Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Why, then, this touch of coldness in her welcome on his return? "Dearest," he whispered, as he drew her to his manly bosom, "what is wrong? What have I done to upset my little ducky-wopsy?"

"Oh, George," she replied in broken tones, "you didn't send me a kiss in your seventh letter!"

George thought like lightning for a moment, before he replied: "I know I didn't, patsy, but I had steak and onions that night for supper, and you wouldn't like me to kiss you after eating onions, would you?"

The Wise Fool.

"Time works wonders," observed the sage. "So would you if you were as treless as time and stuck as closely to the job," responded the fool.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

URGES FARMERS TO PLANT PLENTY GRAIN

MUST WORK GREAT PART OF SALVATION AT HOME

DON'T EXPECT HELP

But Plant Grain, Raise Cattle and Do Everything Possible to Make Own Living.

Mr. J. J. Fretwell, who, as is well known, is one of the most prominent farmers and business men in this section of the state, was asked yesterday what he thought about cotton and conditions in general. Mr. Fretwell is rather optimistic but urges the farmers to sow oats and wheat and raise their own meat at home. He gave some good sound advice and among other things said:

"I am after them again this fall as I was last about sowing plenty of wheat and oats to supply their own needs and that of their tenants so as to have bread for themselves and feed for the stock the coming year. England has declared cotton a contraband of war and by this act you can see the necessity of being independent with your granaries full of wheat and oats and your cribs full of corn and your smoke house full of meat. Let us all go back to good old hog and hominy time, when we only hauled one way, and that was to town to sell our produce."

"The first car of meat that was shipped to Anderson was by Bleckley, Brown and Fretwell, up to that time we bought our meat and bread from the country. The time has come for us to do like our forefathers, produce everything on the farm that is needed. It is an easy thing to do, as your neighbors can tell you if you are not in that class at present. I have heard several business men say that they were well pleased with last year's results. Mr. Charles Dunn raised 140 bushels of wheat on about 11 acres; Mr. Parker Milford of Fork township on 14 acres threshed 227 bushels; Mr. Fréves Chamblee made a fine crop of wheat, one of his tenants sowed one and one-half bushels and made 30 bushels. Wheat growing is not an experiment in this county."

"Some time ago the New York Times had an editorial about cotton and they used the expression that the south howled before it was hurt last fall. The idea was that we did not need assistance from any source that were still planting large crops of cotton, when we were warned. We need not expect assistance from any source so it is up to us to show the north that we have the industry and intelligence to provide for ourselves."

"My plan for this fall is to commence sowing oats next week between the cotton rows, using acid phosphate at the rate of two to three hundred pounds to the acre, planting only one bushel of oats to the acre. The same plan will be adopted with wheat, only I will sow it after frost in October. "There is another thing that I want to talk to the farmers about and it is his. In riding over the county you hardly ever see a well kept pasture, in fact the idea is that it is lost time to do any work in the pasture. Loose rock, scrubby pines, tree stumps and all kinds of litter you will see thrown in the pasture. Now is the time you haven't so much to do so look after his. Get your pastures ready before cotton picking time. If you haven't a Bermuda pasture fix one now by breaking your land with a two-horse plow and harrowing well. Lay it off in two foot rows and drop in your grass. Press it in the ground by stepping on it. Cover it over with tarrows then roll it well and you will be abundantly repaid for all the work you have put on it by better and more milk and butter."

"The boll weevil has reached Alabama on his road to this country. You can get on a train in Anderson at 12 o'clock noon and be in boll weevil territory by night. So you see he is coming but when he reaches Anderson county let us be prepared by having plenty of hogs and cows, plenty of rain crops, so that we will not be so dependent on cotton."

Jolt for the Nominee.

The rector of a church was called away to another parish and left his curate in charge of the church, says The Philadelphia Telegraph. On his return he met a woman member of his flock at the station.

"Good afternoon," Mrs. Smith, said he. "How did the curate make out yesterday?"

"Poorest sermon I ever heard," rankly replied Mrs. Smith. "There wasn't a thing in it."

Whereat the rector passed on down the street and near the church he met the curate.

"How are you, John?" greeted the good man. "I suppose you got through all right yesterday."

"Yes, sir," was the startling rejoinder of John. "I hadn't time to prepare a sermon of my own, so I preached one of your old ones."

He Knew His Man.

Monsieur wanted the picture hung on the right; madame wanted it on the left. But monsieur insisted that the servant should hang the picture according to his orders. Consequently Joseph stuck a nail in the wall on the right, but this done, he too went and stuck another on the left.

"What is that second nail for?" his master inquired in astonishment.

"It is to save me the trouble of fetching the ladder tomorrow, when monsieur will have come around to the views of madame."—A. agonant.
